Aims and scope

The International Journal of Odonatology is aimed at providing a publication outlet for the growing number of students of Odonata. It will address subjects such as the ecology, ethology, physiology, genetics, taxonomy, phylogeny and geographic distribution of species. Reviews will be by invitation, but authors who plan to write a review on a subject of interest to the journal are encouraged to contact the editor.

Cover photograph

The shadow of a Micromacromia camerunica projected on a leaf in Bwindi Impenetrable National Park, Uganda, May 2003. As discussed in this issue, the generic classification of libellulids like this one has been hampered for many decades by over-emphasis of venation. Photograph by Klaas-Douwe B. Dijkstra.
